Tipitz and the Press

It is easier to follow evil spirits than to exorcise them. For nearly 20 years Germany has been intent to look on England as "the enemy," and the rank growth from those poisonous seeds is not easily to be rooted out. Since the beginning of the war the idea has been inculcated that against such an enemy any means may be employed, no matter how abhorrent, and a country educated to that view is hard to control when the government finds a change of policy necessary.

A striking evidence of this hold which Tipitz and his policies have on Germany, or at any rate on Prussia, is given in the manifesto in which four of the principal newspapers of Berlin unite. They tell the government that he was "the German statesman who first and most clearly recognized England's purpose to destroy her hated German rival, and was determined to meet this purpose by all force and by ruthless employment of all means at our disposal." And it adds that "the overwhelming majority of the people feel themselves therein at one with the creator and organizer of our navy." Therefore, if the retirement of the grand admiral means any let-up in ruthlessness, the government should reconsider.

Now, as to this it may be said that England has at no time shown a purpose "to destroy its hated German rival." Before the war began it was as conciliatory as Germany was uncompromising. Since the war began it has repeatedly defined its terms of peace, and they do not include the destruction of Germany. There are lunatic newspapers in Britain as well as in Germany, but they do not speak for responsible statesmen. The conservative party, of which Bonar Law is leader, is less identified than the liberal party with the policy of conciliation, yet he declared lately in the house of commons that "There is not a member of the government who would not jump at the chance of bringing the war to an end in a way consistent with the national honor.

For the government Mr. Asquith has defined England's position thus, repeating and expanding his declaration at the beginning of the war:
"We shall never sheath the sword * * * until Belgium, and I will add Serbia, recovers in full measure all and more than all * * * until France is adequately secured * * * until the rights of the smaller nationalities of Europe are placed upon an unassailable foundation, and until the military domination of Prussia is wholly and finally destroyed."

This last is a larger order, but it does not imply the destruction of Germany; it would be sufficient if Germany should get rid of its Prussian war lords, forget the iron deposits of France, and decide to be a good neighbor.

So far from detecting a ruthless design to destroy Germany, Admiral von Tirpitz did all that one man could to create enmity between the two nations. No such enmity existed when he began to agitate for a great navy.
Only a menace by sea could have broken down Britain's isolation and forced it to join hands with its old enemies, Russia and France. If there is a ring of iron about Germany today, it was forged by the great man of one idea whose retirement is now deplored, and whose enthusiasm carried the emperor with him in the dream of challenging British sea power.

But beyond that, if England, which has been pacific, should now become implacable, no one thing is so much responsible as the policy of ruthlessness with which the name of Tirpitz is associated. For a long time this apathy of the English was a matter of comment; what stirred them out of it was "frightfulness." Every Zeppelin raid, every sinking of a ship with the loss of non-combatant lives, has added to a bitterness which has become almost as intense in England as in Germany. If Germany would like to end the war and can not get acceptable terms, the blame must go mainly to the Tirpitz policies, which these Berlin newspapers are so anxious to have maintained. Unless Germany can crush England as some of its chauvinists have dreamed, it is the part of wisdom to shelve Germany's old man of the sea and all his works.—Springfield Republican.

IF YOU FAT, GET MORE FRESH AIR

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT.
TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air, it is said, weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.
Put out on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from the City Drug Store or any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Wash yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

ANOTHER GOOD RAIN FELL OVER THIS SECTION

FARMERS WERE GREATLY BENEFITED BY LAST NIGHT'S RAIN.
—WAS GENERAL OVER THIS ENTIRE SECTION OF STATE.

A heavy rain fell over this entire section last night, and the farmers are correspondingly happy. The gauge at the local observatory registered 1.56 inches this morning, which brings the total rainfall for the year to 15.11 inches. The rainfall for the month of January was 11.56 inches, there was no rain here during February, and the total for March has been 3.61 inches.
Visitors from Waurika today state that the rain was even heavier in the western portion of the county than it was here, the wheat and oat crop was greatly benefited, and the stock men are feeling better as their water supply in some instances was running short.

Farmers are well advanced with their work according to reports from the country, and conditions are looking good at present, the cotton acreage will probably be about the same as last year, although there is more talk of diversification than for any year past. Land owners are encouraging their tenants to raise their own meat and keep chickens and cows, also plant and maintain a large garden, in this way the high cost of living is materially reduced and the credit system to a certain degree eliminated.
More substantial houses are being furnished tenants, with the result that Carter county is getting a better class every year.

It's a program that will please all at High school Monday night, April 3, a chorus of thirty voices. 29-5

PROGRESSIVE MOVE AIDS
CROP MARKETING

A telegraph and mail "news service" operated by the government to aid in the marketing of perishable crops with the maximum of profit and the minimum of loss was started last Monday and became a principal feature of the Wilson administration's program for the practical aid of farmers.

The annual waste of crops that mature and spoil quickly, such as berries, fruits, melons and garden truck generally, it is estimated has amounted in the past to millions of dollars.
A chief cause of the loss has been lack of widespread information as to where and how to find a market at the right time.

To solve this problem the office of markets was created in the department of agriculture two years ago.
Its organization has so far advanced that, now, branch offices have been established in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, St.
Louis, Minneapolis and Kansas City.
Other men are stationed in the principal producing sections whence the more perishable products are grown in large quantity. The government men in the producing areas will keep in constant touch with their fellows in the big markets and collaborate in collecting and distributing information on market conditions. The Market News Service will contain the results of their observations. It will help both shippers and dealers.

The information is to be sent out by telegraph to all who are sufficiently interested to pay the telegraph tolls and by mail to those who do not care to incur telegraph expense.
There will be no charge for the service of providing the information.

RAILWAY MEN MAKE DEMANDS ON BIG LINES

LETTER ADDRESSED TO THE OF-FICIALS OF THE GULF, COLORADO DO & SANTA FE IS HEREBY RE-PRODUCED—WITH REPLY.

At a meeting held in Galveston the day following representatives of the railroad service brotherhoods presented to the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railway Co. the following letter which embodies their demands for increased compensation, the most important of which involves changing the basic day from ten to eight hours.
The letter follows:

"This is to advise that employees employed on Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe railway have instructed the authorized committees of the B. of L. E., O. R. C., D. of L. E., and U. of R. T. to present to you the attached proposition number thirty-five as a revision of schedules now in force and effect on our line governing employees in the classes of service indicated therein.

In accordance with the terms of our present arrangements kindly accept this as the official notice of our desire to revise to the extent named our present schedules or agreements.
We request that you join with other railway managements in the United States and enter into a collective movement for handling this proposition at one and the same time through a joint committee representing all railroads concerned and we are instructed to advise you that the organizations stand ready to do likewise. This proposition is being presented to other roads in the territory on the same date this request is made upon our line, and it is desired that answer to our proposal be made in writing to the undersigned committee on or before April 29, 1916. In submitting this proposition we desire that it be understood that all rates, rules and conditions in our agreements not especially affected by these proposed amendments shall remain unchanged, subject in the future by negotiating with proper officials and committees as has been the practice in the past. It is our request that all lines or divisions of railway operated or controlled by Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railway shall be included in these negotiations and that any agreement reached shall apply alike to all such lines of railway. It is to be understood that any settlement of these questions that may be agreed upon by this co-operative movement will not become effective on roads where agreements or arbitration awards exist until the expiration of the period named therein.

Article 1.—a. In all road service one hundred miles or less, eight hours or less, will constitute a day except in passenger service, miles in excess of one hundred will be paid for at the same rate per mile.

b. On runs of one hundred miles or less overtime will begin at the expiration of eight hours.

c. On runs of over one hundred miles overtime will begin when the time on duty exceeds the miles run divided by twelve and one-half miles per hour.

d. All overtime to be computed on the minute basis and paid for at time and one-half times the prorated rate.

e. No one shall receive less for eight hours or one hundred miles than they now receive for a minimum day or one hundred miles for the class of engine used or for service performed.

f. Time will be computed continuously from time required for duty until released from duty and responsibility at end of day or run.

Article 2.—a. Eight hours or less will constitute a day in all yard and switching service, the minimum day's pay for eight hours in yards shall not be less than the present day's pay for ten hours in yards. Provided that in yards having a minimum day of more than ten hours, the present day's pay as in effect January 1, 1916, will be continued with the eight-hour day.

b. Time to be computed continu-
at end of day or run. All over eight hours within any twenty-four hours period to be computed and paid for at the rate of time and one-half time.

c. All overtime to be computed on the minute basis.

Article 3.—a. Eight hours or less at "Your communication of March thir-made a part of that notice has this day been received. The present staneration and disposition these provisions in the schedules or practices thereunder governing compensation in the classes of services affected by your proposals or those in conflict with the following principles as they apply to such classes.

a. No double compensation for the same time or service.

b. The same classification for the purpose of compensation to be applied to all members of a train and engine crew.

c. Two or more differently paid classes of service performed in the same day or trip to be paid propo-tionate rates according to the class of service with not less than a minimum day for the combined service.

d. Modification of rules or their interpretation that brings about an unfair and unreasonable compensation.

e. Adjustment to an equitable basis, rate of pay allowing firemen on oil burning locomotives having cylin-

The American Legal News says that in Iowa a merchant sent a dunning letter to a man, who replied by return mail: "You say you are holding my note yet. That is all right—perfectly right. Just keep holding on to it, and if you find your hands slipping spit on them and try it again. Yours affectionately."

Proper Treatment for Biliousness

For a long time Miss Lila Skelton, Churchville, N. Y., was bilious and had sick headache and dizzy spells. Chamberlain's Tablets were the only thing that gave her permanent relief. Obtainable everywhere.

RESERVE YOUR SEATS
FOR BAND CONCERTS

There will be no extra charge for the reserved seats to hear the Fifth Field Artillery band at the high school auditorium on the Sunday in Style Show week.

On account of the sale of the tickets it has been decided to give all an opportunity to secure a seat so that there shall be no confusion when the doors open.

All who have purchased tickets and who intend to do so, can go to Ring ers drug store and reserve their seats.
This will enable all who attend church to go direct from their places of worship to their seats in the auditorium.

The afternoon concert begins at 2 o'clock and the night concert at 8:30.
The appearance of the fifth artillery band in this city is going to be one of the musical events of the season.
Director Montin has arranged two fine programs for these concerts and the music lovers of the city will be given a rare treat. Several local soloists will appear at these two concerts. The program will be published later.
